STARTED THE FIRE IN GLEE.

AN OLD WOMAN KINDLED THE BLAZE IN THE DOVER ASYLUM.

The Mast Have Hidden the Matches, fo She was Locked Up Securely in a Room by Herself-Rare Sport as She Saw the Flames Begin to Crackle-Forty-one Lives were Lost in this Poorhouse Tinder Box.

DOVER, N. H., Feb. 10.-The bodies of thirtyfour of the forty-one inmates of the insane asylum who were burned to death last night have been recovered. The building was of the ordinary wooden type common to all country poor farms thirty years ago. It stood in a wide yard, shut in by fences and near the almshouse, in which were a hundred or more pauper wards.

The insane were locked in cells, and most of them were chronic cases. Keeper Driscoll was making his usual rounds through the building when he smelled smoke, and his attention was attracted to the crackling of the fire on the second floor. Mary La Fountaine, a French woman from Great Falls, who has been afflicted with melancholia, became so violent recently as to be dangerous, and was locked up in a small room by herself. She had not been let out for two days. The keeper found this woman in the mad enjoyment of a blazing fire increasing every moment in energy. She was delighted. How it was kindled cannot be known, for the woman had been carefully searched and had neither matches nor lamp.

mp. The only means of protection were fire palls The only means of protection were fire palls set in quartets along the corridors, each bucket filled with water. There was no force jump, and the nearest efficient apparatus was four miles off by the lonely, ice-bound road. Here were forty-eight persons, under lock and key, at the mercy of the fire, which this mad woman was enjoying with glee. The keoper succeeded in opening fifteen cell doors before he was obliged to fly for his life and excape by jumping from the window. The flames rushed through the corridors the length of the building, 135 feet, and the smoke enveloped the stairs.

ing. 135 feet, and the smoke enveloped the stairs.

There was no escape except by the windows, and the inmates on the second floor son became fremied. They laughed and sang and shouted. Some sat stupelled and gazed with melancholy pleasure upon the approaching fismes. The cuilding soon became a furnace. The county farm house was hurned twelve years ago and thirteen persons lest their lives, because the county form house was hurned twelve at the state of the consent to the expense of a night watchman. At that time a legislative committee called the attention of the County Commissioners to the condition of the insane asylum, and to the lack of facilities for escape in case of fire. The fire escapes were not added to the building.

MRS. VILLARD'S TRIEVING BUTLER. Me Admits Robbing the Other Servants as Well us His Mistress.

Arthur Edgar Matthows, Mrs. Henry Villard's thieving butler, was arraigned in Jefferson Market Court yesterday. Mrs. Villard, accompanied by her son, came to court and made n complaint against Matthews of the larceny of silverware valued at $1,000. The police say that the articles stolen are worth twice that amount. In spite of this fact, and although Matthews had been stealing ever since he first came to the Villard's apartments in the Lisbon, Fifty-eighth street and Seventh avenue, no member of the family suspected that their property was being stolen until the detectives told them of the butler's arrest. He was arrested coming out of McAleonan's pawnshop at Breadway and Thirty-fifth street, on

When he saw Mrs. Villard in court yesterday Biorning Matthews became very ponitent, and confessed to other misdeeds. He had borrowed money from the housemaids, he said, and never paid it back.

"It all went to play the horses, Mrs. Villard," said he. "I was honest before I got doing that. I never stole from any one else. When you gave me money to go out and pay bills I used to bet the money and make out receipts for the bills myself."

"I once gave you money to get a dress coat." and Mrs. Villard. "Where is the coat?"

"I never got it." replied Matthews. "I played the money and jost it."

Matthews was held in $1,000 bail for trial. He is a young Englishman and is married. Before coming to the Villard's he served as butlet to John W. Harner of Sands Point, H. D. Ripley of 120 West Fifty-lith street, and Douw, 1. Williamson of 803 Madison avenue. He has been in this country for four years. piorning Matthews became very ponitent, and

MISS DOLORES WON'T DIE

She Laughed at the Coroner, but Finally obliged Him With an "Ante-Mortem," An auburn-haired young French woman was carried to Bellevue Hospital in an ambu-lance late on Thursday night. Acting House Surgest Bellamy found that she was suffering from peritonitis. Site said she was Dolores Glodeck, 10 years old, of 237 East Twenty-sixth street. Ever since Margaret Cresswell of Altoona came to Bellevue Hospital suffering with peritonitis, brought on by maipractice, and died there without mentioning her betrayer's name, an epidemic of cases has poured into the hospiral, and Doloros was suspected. Cor-oner McKenna was sent for yesterday morning. When he took his seat by the hed-side he looked very serious and told Miss Glo-deck that she must not die with her secret on her lips. The Coroner said impressively he had come to take her ante-mortem state-ment.

The French girl laughed and said she was not going to die, and that she had no secret to going to die, and that she may no secret. But the Coroner insisted on a statement and and Said:

My name is Dolores Giodeck. I am 10 years old, born in Bordeaux, France. My parents are both dead, I earn my living by giving lessons in French to children William II. Comolity, whose uncle keeps a returnant at 142 East Fourteenth street, in which William is waiter, has been keeping company with me since last October.

She insisted that there was nothing the matter with her but a cold. She is going to get well. Dr. Loomis examined the girl yesterday and diagnosed the case as acute peritonitis. How the attack was brought on he would not guess. In the possession of Miss Dolores was found a long list of names of men. The girl admitted that she knew them all, but denied that they had anything to do with her condition. She had also several cards in her pocketbook and notes by which appointments had been made. A scaled letter was addressed to James H. Baile of 318 Second avenue.

METHODS OF TAXATION.

Foreign Corporations Which Do Business

The joint Legislative Committee which is making inquiries into the operation of the taxation laws of the State hold a meeting yesterday in the room of Part II. of the Euperior Charles C. Burns of Rochester, Secretary and Treasurer of the National Starch Company, said that his company was organized under the laws of Kentucky and had its principal office at Covington. It also owned real estate in this State and paid tax on it.

William M. Childs, secretary of the American Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of cotton bagging, testified that his company was incorporated under the laws of West Virginia, and had offices all over the South and a purchasing office in New York. They paid a small personal property tax in New York.

Filishs Fulton, a director, said that the National Cordage Company was incorporated under the laws of New Jersey, although it did nearly all its business in New York. He did not know what taxes were paid in New York, but they were small.

W.J. Rogers said that the New York and New Jersey Condensed Milk Company of East Orange was incorporated under the laws of New Jersey, and did a big business in New York, but paid little taxes here.

The committee adjourned until 11 o'clock to-day.

Ardsley Property to Be Put Up For Sale. Fifteen stockholders of the Ardsley Land and Improvement Company met at the Lawyers' Club yesterday and heard read a report of a committee appointed to suggest measures for the most advantageous sale of the property. The property, consisting of 1934 acres near the late Cyrus W. Field's country scres near the late Cyrus W. Field's country satate at Pobbs Ferry, was sold in 1860 by Mr. Field to Charles Henry Butler for about $500.000. An improvement company was organized and a mortgage was nut on the property. The mortgage passed into the hands of Drexel. Morgan & Co., and became due last November. Judgment has since been obtained. The report suggested that the trustees be requested to arrange with Drexel, Morgan & Co. for the most favorable sale possible. An attempt will probably be made to have the property sold here rather than from the steps of the country court House at White Plains.

FRED SEBILIRD WANTS HIS SHARE. He and Mrs. Netloon Have Presed the Thirty-Limit Set by Their Grandfat

Frederic Gobbard, the colebrated man about town, has begun suit in the Supreme on behalf of himself and his sister, Mrs. Mary Isabelle Nellson, to recover their interests in the estate of their maternal grandfather, Thomas E. Davis, who died in 1878 leaving a very large estate of roal and personal property. Mrs. Nellson is no longer the actual custodian of her share, having by deed on March 29, 1887, conveyed her interest in trust to Augustus H. Vanderpoel and William C. Bowers, to pay the income to her for life. and at her death to give her interest absolutely to her daughters, Mary Isabelle and Kathleen Blanc Neilson, and her son, Jules Blanc Neilson. All of the children are made parties defendant in the suit.

The son is at Cambridge, and Mary Isabelle is at the Roxan Catholic Convent in George-

Mr. Davis, the grandfather, had six daughters, including Catherine Gebhard, mother of the plaintiff, and one son, Thomas E. Davis. His property included 82 Nassau street, 40 East Nineteenth street, property and buildings on the west of Broadway between Prince and Houston streets, and on the southwest corner of William and South William streets, and property further up town, besides a large villa on Richmond Terrace, Staten Island, facing

Mr. Davis named as executors and trustees Mr. Davis named as executors and trustees of his will his wife, Annie, his son, and his friends, Charles O'Conor, the celebrated lawyer; William H. Gebbard, and Thomas Vyss. The witnesses to the will were John J. Cisco, the banker, 135 Fifth avenue; Van Brugh Livingston, 33 West Thirty-ninth street, and Edmund Elmendorf, Jr. 113 Ninth avenue.

Mrs. Anne Davis, the widow, received under the will the family residence, all of the horses and carriages, turniture, paintings, plate, diamonds and pewels, and an income of $15,000 for life. The villa on Staten Island was to be held in trust for the benefit of the son. Thomas, and he received power to dispose of it by will. By the terms of the will the residue of the estate was to be divided into twenty-four parts. Each of the children of the testator's deceased daughter, Cathorine Gebhard, namely the plaintiff, his sister, and William H. Gebhard, had before his grandfather, was to receive one-twenty-fourth. The income was to be paid to them until they attained the age of thirty, when they were to receive their interests absolutely. One-eighth of the estate was to go to the son and one-eighth to each of the six daughters living. Each was to have the income for life, with power to distribute by will his or her shares among his or her calldren, and give such portion as he or she saw fit to his wife or her husband, but in no case was the wife or her husband to receive more than one-half of the share, and then only for life. of his will his wife, Annie, his son, and his life.

Frederic Gebhard says that he and his sister are each over 30 years of age and want their shares. He asks that these shares be set apart and also the share of his aunt Nora, which, by reason of her death, goesto Edward d'Hauterive, but if this is refused he demands that there shall be a partition of the entire estate.

NEW HARLEM BRIDGE PLANS

Laid Before the Board of Estimate-Too Many Mandatory Bills at Albany,

Plans for the new bridge to span the Harlem River at Third avenue were submitted to the Board of Estimate yesterday by Commissioner The bridge is to take the place of the present structure, which does not leave twenty-four feet clear of high water as required by the regulations of the War Department.

plans showed an elaborate structure. with a double road way, double footpath, and accommodations for street railways. The cost is estimated at $2,000,000, of which the extensive approach on the north side will cost $305,000. The allowance made by the Legislature for the bridge structure, exclusive of approaches.

the bridge structure, exclusive of approaches, was $1,500,050.

After the plans had been passed around and examined, the Board extended an invitation to persons present to inspect them and make suggestions. A number of nersons were present, chiefly owners of property near the proposed bridge. Jordan L. Mott and others made a few suggestions. The plans met with general approbation. A discussion of them was postponed until the next meeting.

Upon motion of President Barker, the Board voted to call on the Legislature not to pass any mandatory bills compelling the city to issue bonds. Mr. Barker said that bills were now pending requiring the expenditure of several millions, and that this expenditure should not be saddled upon the city without giving the city a hearing.

The sum of $10.5,000 was appropriated for a new schoolhouse in Washington street, between Albuny and Carlisle streets.

The Park Board asked for an appropriation of $17,000 to construct a carriage entrance to Central Park at West Ninctieth street. It was referred to the Comptroller.

AT LAW OVER A LOTTERY PRIZE. Mrs. Collins Complains that Her Sister, Mrs. Unger. Won't Go Raives. An action of Mrs. Margaret Collins to re-Kerbs. Wertheim & Schiffer, cigar manufacturors, came up for trial before Justice Trunk of the Surreme Court yesterday, but went over to Monday.

Mrs. Collins, who lived at 150 Madison street with her husband, Frank Collins, a painter, in August, 1801, agreed with her sister, Mrs. Nellie Unger, wife of Cigarmaker Isane ger of 123 East 104th street, to buy a S1 lottery ticket, each to put up 50 cents. They had bought a ticket in comination the previous month, but were unsuccessful. This August ticket drew $15,000.

The women gave the ticket to Unger to collect and he gave it to his employers. Keris, Wertheim & Schiffer for this purpose. Mrs. Collins says her sister and her lussband at first denied that the ticket had drawn a prize, but through her counsel she notified the firm to rotain half of the money collected for har. It is declared that the firm received the $15,000 and that they paid $7,500 to Unger. Who has set up in the cigar business with the money at 417 East Seventy-sixth street. The firm admit receiving the money, but say they do not know to whom to give it, as both sisters claim the half they have retained.

Litigation over the proceeds of a lottery venture is uncommon, because the law makes any evidence of them, and to turn the money over to the Commissioners of Charities and Correction for the benefit of the poor. ger of 123 East 104th street, to buy a $1 lot-

Gen, Sickles's Plan for Rapid Transit. The Rapid Transit Commissioners held an executive session yesterday afternoon, and it s probable that the next public hearing will e on Tuesday.

The Commissioners have received a letter from Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, who says that the charter of the New York Elevated Viaduct Italiway provides for elevated railways that would satisfy all the requirements of this city and Westchester county. At the next seasion it is probable that Gen. Sickles, who is at present suffering from neuralgis, will be able to explain his plan personally.

Mrs. Wetmore Falls Again to Get Allmony. Justice Ingraham of the Supreme Court deeided adversely to the plaintiff yesterday in s suit by the Continental Trust Company as resuit by the Continental Trust Company as re-ceiver of the property of Major William B. Wetmore against Sarah T. Wetmore the Major's mother, to recover possession of any property she might hold belonging to her son. She denied that she had any of his property. The trust company is endeavoring to reach property belonging to Wetmore in order to apply it as alimony to the support of his wife. Annette li, W. Wetmore, and her children.

The Chorus Girls Get Judgment.

Civil Justice McKeon, in the Seventh Disriet Court, gave judgment yesterday in favor of the five young women, formerly chorus girls in the "Isle of Champagne," who sued Thomas Q. Seabrooke the manager of the opera company, for $50 each for aer-vices rendered. The chorus girls were Belle Cameron, hate Ethel. Alice May, May Crossleigh, and Bita Masser. MISTAKE OF A LIFE.

The Most Terrible Mistake Possible to Make.

And the Frightful Results Which Followed.

All Should be Careful to Avoid This Great Danger.

The world is careless. And it is just this carelessness which constitutes the greatest element of danger. From little things grow great things—a small beginning often results in an awful and disastrous ending.

A gentleman well known by us has just passed through an experience which perfectly demonstrates this. He began to have certain feelings which he could not explain. He grew languid and tired, felt weak, in fact, after any and his stomach and bowels troubled him. There was a sediment in his water. After while he had numb spells, trembling feeling in his legs, arms, and body. Then there came prickling sensations in his fingers and toes.

Suddenly he had a shock of paralysis. For the simple reason that he had for months neglected, through ignorance of their real meaning and danger, the gradually growing symptoms of this awful disease.

This gentleman, who is no other than the well-known William T. Cox. Esq., of 181 Friendship st., Providence, R. L. as a lesson to others against neglecting the symptoms and stated to us the facts of his case, trusting that Every word is true.

WILLIAM T. COX.

"For two years I felt bad, with headache, and seemed weak and tired at times. My bowels troubled me, and at times my water was not what it should be.
"I did not take any medicine, but let myself alone and went on with my work. "I did not take any medicine, but let myself alone and went on with my work.

"There is where I made the mistake of my life, for this bad feeling was followed by paralysis. I could do no work for two years. I was entirely helpless, could not walk, could not evon feed myself.

"I heard of Dr. Greene's Norvura blood and nerve remedy, and took it for six months, and am now cured.

"What a serious mistake it was not to take it before the shock of paralysis, and so prevent all danger.

"I am now 78 years old, and feel young and strong." "I am now 78 years old, and feel young and strong."
If this proves a lesson to our people and results in those having those weak, tired, and exhausted feelings and bad symptoms taking the wonderful medicine. Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and so preventing the dread results, paralysis, insanity, or nervous prostration, we shall feel that Mr. Cox's case has not been given publicity in vain. The remedy is purely vegotable and harmless, and is kept by druggists for $1. It is recommended by doctors because it is the discovery and prescription of the famous physician. Dr. Greene of 35 West 14th st., New York. The Doctor is the most successful of our specialists in the cure of sil forms of nervous and chronic diseases, and can be consulted without charge, personally or by letter.—Adc.

Burke in the latter's office 053 Lexington's avenue. with a pair of brass knuckles. The doctor appeared in court with a pair of badly bruised eyes, and told the Justice that he had been confined to the house since the nesault took place on last Sunday morning. It appears that Dr. Burke was Mrs. O'Eelily's physician, but that his treatment of her case in some way drew down the wrath of the husband.

A short time ago O'Reilly was put out of the doctor's house, which only added fuel to the flame. On Sunday morning O'Eelily gained admittance to U53, and finding that the doctor was out, tors up and down the house, frightening the women and shouting that he would lay the doctor out when he got a chance.

About 11 o'clock Burke came in and G'Reilly struck him several savage blows in the face with a pair of brass knuckles. Then he left the dector unconscious upon the floor and made his escape. TWO PER CENT. OFF POLICE SALARIES.

Revival of un Old Idea for Increasing the Pension Fund. The Police Commissioners had an executive session yesterday, at which Superintendent Byrnes was present. President Martin said afterward that ways and means for strengthening the police pension fund were discussed. Superintendent Byrnes proposed that each member of the force contribute two per cent. of his salary each month. This would have to of his salary each month. This would have to be done voluntarily, for when it was attempted as a compulsory measure the proceeding was declared to be unconstitutional.

The potitions of the roundsmen and doormen for permission to apply for an increase of pay were denied. Dr. Morten tirinell, tollice surgeon in the Third Inspection district, and Patroiman Matthew D. Opposition to the Webster Bill.

Property owners interested in the widening and extension of Elm street met at the Metro-politan Hotel yesterday afternoon to protest gainst Assemblyman Webster's bill providing that the city, upon a report of the Commisioners of Appraisal recommending the condemning of property for city improvements may at once take the property instead of waitmay at once take the property instead of waiting until the law fixes the amount of compensation. The compensation is to be awarded afterward. Chairman John Hayes, Leo Schlesinger, S. V. R. Cruger, William T. Yan Zandt, and others condemned the bill. Resolutions were adopted, and a committee was appointed to obtain an amendment providing that, while the proceedings for condemnation may be hastened and abbreviated, the owners of property may retain possession until an award for the property taken is made.

To Buy Up All the Brooklyn Gas Companies. J. Edward Addieks, a speculator in gas stocks, has outlined a plan for the purc all the gas companies in Brooklyn. He pro poses that the Beckton Construction Company, of which he is Treasurer, shall purchase the of which he is Treasurer, shall nurchase the old gas companies in $Brooklyn,$with their stocks, amounting to $12,000,000, and bonds to $3,000,000 more. A consolidated company will then be organized with $15,000,000 in bonds and $20,000,000 in stock. The Heckton company will then sell all the old companies to the consolidated company for its entire issue of stocks and bonds. He promises that stockholders will soon get ally per cent on their investments.

LOSER CALLS IT CONSPIRACY, But His Former Employers Say He's Crany and Not Their Creditor,

Charles Loser, 25 years old, of 530 Fifth street, was committed in the Tombs Folice Court yesterday for examination as to his sanity. The friends of the young man charge that there is a conspiracy against him, and that those who are persecuting him are doing so to avoid the payment of wages which they owe him.

For five years up to last October Loser was employed by the London and Liverpool Clothing Company on the Bowery as a salesman. Bince the failure of the concern and its reorganization he has been employed by a clothing store in Eighth avenue.

Loser claims that the London and Liverpool Company owe him $2,000 and will not pay him.

Company owe him $2,000 and will not pay him.

For some time Jerome Herman, one of the members of the firm, has been receiving threatening letters, signed by Loser demanding the payment of this $2,000 debt, which, Herman claims, exists only in Loser's diseased brain. Finally on Saturday, while Mr. Herman was standing in the window of the store, a bullet came, whizzing through the store, a bullet came, whizzing through the slease, just missing Mr. Herman's head, and neatly clipping off a lock of hair. There is no proof that Loser fired this shot, but to prevent him carrying out the threats contained in his letters he had the man arrested.

Loser dealed his guilt and insisted that there was a conspiracy against him, as did his lawyer and mother.

EXEMPT FROM THE TAX.

Grace Church and the Museum of Art Re-lieved of $17,000 Assessed on Each. One of the decisions of the Court of Appenis handed down yesterday relieves Grace Church and the Metropolitan Museum of Art from paying the collateral inheritance tax nascessed upon the bequests made to them by Miss Catherine L. Wolfe. Miss Wolfe died on April 4. 1887. She left $150,000 in money to Grace Church and $200,000 in money to the Museum, besides $148,000 worth of pictures.

In the original proceedings before the Surrogate it was decided that these bequests were exempt from fax. Upon notification from the Comptroller that the tax had not been paid the District Attorney filed a petition in October, 1880, to compet the executors and legatess to pay the tax. It was maintained that by the terms of the act the Surrogate had no authority to determine that these bequests were exempt, except in a proceeding begun by the District Attorney. The rocult of this suit was a decree issued by Surrogate Itansom, in February, 1892, assessing the tax and lixing it at $17,500 on the bequest to Grace Church, and at $17,401.25 on that to the Museum of Art. An appeal was taken to the General Term of the Supreme Court, and Justices Van Brunt. O'Brien, and Barrett agreed in upholding the legality of the tax. It is this decision which the Court of Appeals has reversed. 1887. She left $350,000 in money to Grace

TO COLLECT SAN DOMINGO REVENUES. American Capitalists Purchase the Right from a Ho land Firm.

A syndicate of American capitalists has pur chased from the Messra. Westendorp, Holland bankers, the right to collect the internal revenues of the republic of San Domingo. The Holland bankers some time ago accepted bonds from the republic as collateral for a loan of £1,300,000. Six per cent. was the rate of interest agreed upon, and it was paid until about six months ago. Then the republic, in about six months ago. Then the republic, in lieu of the interest, granted to the bankers the right to collect the internal revenues.

Seen afterward the bankers became anxious to dispose of their rights, and sent arrepresentative to this country to interest capitalists. A syndicate known as the San Domingo Improvement Company of New York was formed by John W. Taylor of Newark, Smith M. Weed, Charles W. Wells, Warner Miller, H. T. Dimock, Frank L. Smith, and Everett P. Wheeler of New York. The syndicate contemplates making extensive improvements on the island, and has already executed a contract for the completion of the railroad from the Forto Plata to Santiago, with the right to operate it for fifty years.

SLINEY'S CONVICTION AFFIRMED. His Counsel Says He Has New Evidence, and Will Demand Another Trial. "Mickey Sliney isn't executed yet," said Lawyer Emanuel B. Friend yesterday. will make a motion for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence." That was all that Sliney's counsel would say when the news came that the Court of Appeals when the news came that the Court of Appeals had confirmed his conviction. Judge Gray wrote the opinion, all the judges concurring. District Attorney Nicoll said that as soon as the remittitur is received he will confer with the trial Judge and decide upon a day for resentencing Sliney. His counsel can then make their motion for a new trial. It is not likely that it will be granted, as about all the evidence obtainable was sifted at his trial. The only witness who might throw further light upon the murder of Bob Lyons is the boy Hronisch, who worked in the shop at 152 Cherry street where the murder occurred on Nov. 25, 1801, and who disappeared thereafter.

HARTFORD, Feb. 10.-In the House this morn ing a contest between the friends of the Storrs Agricultural School at Mansfield, led by Mr. Hale of Glastonbury, and the friends of Yale Sheffield Scientific School, led by George M. Sheffield Scientific School, led by George M. Gunn of Milford, led to the discovery of na quorum, and Speaker Brooks adjourned the House to Tuesday.

Mr. Hale presented a bill changing the name of the school, which is a State institution, to Storrs Agricultural College, thus making it eligible to receive the Government grant to agricultural colleges. The bill further provided that the annual grant of the State shall hereafter go the Storrs College instead of the Male Scientific School. The annual amount is now $18,000, increasing annually uptil it behereafter go the Storra College instead of the Yale Scientific School. The annual amount is now $18,000, increasing annually until it be-comes $25,000. Mr. Hale wanted the bill re-ferred to the Committee on Agriculture, and Mr. Guun to the Judiclary Committee. On vote Mr. Hale was sustained, 52 to 40 no quorum, and the House adjourned. On Tues-day Mr. Hale will introduce a bill appropri-ating $20,000 annually to Storra Agricultural College.

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 10.-The schooner East Wind, Capt. Coombs, of Rockport, Me., with s cargo of lime for this city, went ashore early this morning near Point Judith life saving station. The crew were taken off by the life savers. The schooner and cargo will prob-ably be a total loss.
